

MOKENA MOTOR SALES ROBBED SAT. NIGHT; THIEVES CAUGHT

To Vote Sat. At New Lenox For Higher School Tax Rate

New Lenox voters of School District 122 are being asked by their board of education to go to the polls Saturday, January 20, and vote favorably on an increase of tax rate for that district which contains the Haven avenue and Oak View public schools.

The increase is needed to more efficiently conduct the school operations. All materials used in the schools have increased from 50 to 100 percent without the schools having more money to pay them.

The Butler and Hodge bills, those school bills which have given much concern to those acquainted with school management, gives school district 122, an educational rate of only 40c, which is far below that of most schools in this area. The present salary schedule of the district is also very low in comparison with other schools. In fact, in a survey made, New Lenox district 122 was at the bottom of a list of schools in a wide area in this locality as to salaries. Parents are to receive letters this week to further explain the vital need of the increase in tax rate.

The question on the ballot to be voted 'Yes' or 'No' is: Shall the Board of Education of School District 122 be authorized to levy annually a tax of more than .68 3/4 per cent but not more than .75 per cent upon all the taxable property within said school district for educational purposes?

It is only logical to vote 'Yes' on this proposal for without the necessary funds the schools cannot function properly and teachers are in need of increased salaries to offset the increased cost of living.

When Blaine Saxton, owner of the Mokena Motor Sales on Front street in Mokena, entered his garage Sunday morning, he saw a rear window had been broken. Upon investigation he found two auto and one truck tires and a new battery were missing and the door was unlocked, which had been locked when he left Saturday evening.

Mr. Saxton reported the theft to the Will county sheriff's office who started working on it at once. Through the cashing of a check the guilty person making the theft was arrested.

It seems that Robert Madaus, 38, alias Robert Mahoney, alias Wayne Woodruff, had cashed a check made out to Wayne Woodruff from the Midwest Tire company, 4700 West Chicago avenue, for three tires and a battery.

A John Tierney of Joliet had accepted a check from "Woodruff". Tierney presented the check at the Currency exchange on Cass street in Joliet, where it was cashed. Mr. Lipman at the Exchange questioned the check and contacted Sgt. John Dillon of the Joliet city police who found that Madaus was registered at an east side Joliet hotel.

City police Davidson and Neuhaus went to the hotel and placed Madaus under arrest. He admitted that he had entered the Mokena Motor Sales garage and took the three tires and battery. He said he sold them to the Midwest Tire company for $20. This was the check that Mr. Lipman questioned.

A Mrs. Margaret Van Pelt, 42, of Mokena, was arrested with Madaus. She told the police they needed the money because, "Madaus didn't have the proper clothes."

She had been registered at the hotel also. Both were turned over to the Sheriff's office. It is expected that Mr. Saxton will receive his stolen goods again after the mixup is settled.

Hartley vs. Bailey Case Up For Trial

The suit of County Clerk Joseph H. Hartley against Sam Bailey, a former deputy in his office, was scheduled for trial Monday morning.

After a shortage of $7,281.47 located in Mr. Hartley's office over a year ago, he voluntarily paid that amount back into his office funds. At the same time he started suit against Mr. Bailey, to recover the money which he paid to overcome the shortage. The New York Casualty Company, Mr. Bailey's bonding company, is named co-defendant.

Because there is a possibility that the suit may be settled out of court, the case has been continued to next week.

Tinley Park Will Accept Cook County Police Radio Hookup

The two way radio system for the new police car for the village of Tinley Park was much discussed at the board meeting Monday evening.

They have two choices, one, to install the hookup with the county which is free, and the other to have an independent system as Midlothian.

Mayor Rose Brown and the members of the village board went to Midlothian to investigate its system. The police chief in that village explained to them their two way police radio. Each felt that Midlothian's system is efficient, but the Illinois Bell Telephone company has explained that the cost of having a two way radio system which operation includes the telephone company, would be prohibitive for such a small police department. It is also next to impossible at this time to get direct telephone line to Midlothian for a hookup with or through them.

Mayor Brown invited Gerald McLish, Cook county radio engineer to explain to the village board the county two way radio system.

Because of the impossibility of having a telephone service at this time, the board decided to accept the county service for the local police car.

The board is calling a meeting of the Tinley Park planning committee to instruct them to make a survey of the village properties suitable for industrial uses.

C. A. Kerstein of Manhattan, J. A. Kestel of Frankfort and Fred Peiges of Lockport in addition to the officers also serve as directors.

Telephone Company Seeks Higher Prices

In a petition filed with the Illinois Commerce commission at Springfield, the Illinois Bell Telephone company asked for new rates in its Illinois territory which would increase the cost of basic telephone service for most of its customers 2c or less a day.

The higher prices are needed to offset recent wage increases and other rising costs, the company asserted. The new rates would net the company about $10 million annually and would amount to a 9% increase in customer paid revenue.

Basic residence service would be increased 50c to 60c monthly for those who have party line service. Four-fifths of the company's subscribers, and 75c for individual line customers; business increases would range from $1.50 to $2.00.

Other increases would be applied to nearly all types of miscellaneous telephone service and charges in the 323 Illinois communities the Bell company serves.

"A price increase is necessary to keep the public's telephone service at a high level of efficiency in the war period ahead," W. V. Kahler, president, said. "Our request is for price changes that an unregulated business in our position would have put into effect months ago. We cannot do this because we live at all times under state controlled price ceilings. To substantiate our need we request and invite the fullest investigation by the public's representatives."

Kahler stated that the company had fought uphill since 1946 to improve its financial situation. "Now just as we were reaching a better earnings level, accelerating inflation has given us additional large increases in our costs which force our earnings down," he stated.

The company closed new wage contracts with its six unions late in 1950, adding $15,500,000 to its costs over the various contract periods, which expire in early 1952. "Wage costs amount to 58c out of every expense dollar," Kahler said. "Other sharply rising prices ride the gamut from coal to heat oil buildings, through pencils, poles, and taxes."

"The Company's preparations for national defense have a direct bearing on our present and future earnings problem. Telephone service is an essential link in the mobilization chain that must have no weak spots. We will need more equipment for service than we now have—we will need countless tailor made communications systems for hundreds of defense establishments and surrounding areas. This will require unusual expenditures of investment money."

"Our profit level, however, is well below that of most major industries in today's expanding economy. And while we do not believe, as a regulated utility, that we should have profits at the top level of industry, we know that the investor makes sharp comparisons in choosing the outlet for his capital dollars," the company's president concluded.

In the new filed tariffs, the only change asked on toll and long distance calls is to reduce the initial calling periods on 10, 15, 20 and 25c calls from five to four minutes. Overtime periods for calls of 10c and 20c also would be reduced one minute.

The company has had two post-war rate cases in Illinois resulting in rates increasing the average telephone bill (including toll) by 28%. In the meantime, according to company figures, its wage costs have gone up more than 100% while the cost of living index is up 79%.

Walter Lauffer Herd Leads DHIA Asso. 1 In December

The Holstein herd owned by Walter Lauffer of Tinley Park was the highest producing herd in Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 1 in December, with an average production of 1030 pounds of milk and 37.8 pounds of fat, according to Elmo Saarela, tester for this association.

Other high producing herds were as follows: Raymond Sippel, Mokena, 1066, 35.9; Louis Lauffer & Son, Mokena, 924, 33.9; Fred H. Hoims and Sons, Worth, 835, 33.4; Raymond L. Termonde, Worth, 880, 32.2. These were all Holstein herds except that of Fred H. Holm and Sons, which were Brown Swiss.

Louis Lauffer and Son were the owners of the highest producing individual cow which produced 2000 pounds of milk and 76.0 pounds of fat.

Other high producing individual herds were owned by the following: Walter Lauffer, 2020, 75.0; Herbert Kohl, Matteson, 1890, 74.0; Mail Tool Company Farm, Crete, 1810, 74.0; Vally Loucks, 1540, 72.0. All were Holsteins.

"George Beutel & Son really kept their cows bedded. There is no chance of the cows udders to touch bare concrete. Rather, the cows stand in straw up to their knees. Beutels realize the importance of udder health for good milk production."

This is another good example of a good management practice.

Her son Charles, 12, and a neighbor boy, William Lohman, 7 were standing in the doorway of the chicken coop when the accident happened. Charles extinguished the fire that started quickly with a pail of water. It is thought that iron parts of the stove, which was blown to pieces, hit Mrs. Cihak resulting in her death.

Charles was removed to the Little Company of Mary hospital on 95th street where he was suffering from shock and being treated for head injuries. William Lohman is reported as having received minor scratches.

The county highway police from Homewood station said they were unable to determine the cause of the explosion.

Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the Indianapolis Star, Indianapolis, Ind., who is an outstanding and fearless editor, wrote the following editorial which was published in his paper the first of the year, and which we are glad to second.

"Go All Out, or Get Out Of Korea"

Fighting with one hand tied behind their backs against overwhelmingly larger Communist forces, the United States and U. N. troops in Korea are again retreating toward the sea. Isn't it about time the President of the United States and the members of the United Nations decided what their policy toward this brutal Chinese aggression really is? Before long the gallant American Army in Korea may be decimated and lost. Doesn't anyone in high authority care about these heroic men who are fighting a terrible battle for the principles of justice and honor in the world?

The U. S. government should go immediately before the United Nations and demand that all restrictions on U. N. forces prohibiting bombing of China and the use of the atomic bomb be lifted. We should demand complete economic sanctions of China backed up by a tight naval blockade. We should insist that the U. N. brand Communist China and Soviet Russia aggressors in the Far East. And we should tell other U. N. members to send troops to Korea.

If these demands are not met quickly, the United States government should announce that it will withdraw all troops from Korea as soon as possible. We cannot afford to sacrifice our small but magnificent Army there for an organization that is not willing to give it support. We cannot afford to permit American boys to die for the U. N. when the U. N. will not act for them. It is the duty of the President to give every ounce of support to our fighting men that can be given, and if that is not enough, to order them out of an indefensible position. We must salvage what we can from that defeat and then retaliate against the enemy on our own terms, with the weapons in which we are superior.

If the U. N. fails to act immediately on the Korean war we should get out. After that we should set Japan free, give her arms and range her on our side against the Communist enemy. We should give full scale aid to the Nationalist Chinese in Formosa and to Chinese guerrillas on the mainland. We should blockade every Chinese port and enforce economic starvation on China. We should bomb every suitable Chinese base to reduce Chinese power and force a drain on Russian resources. And we should call on all free Asiatic nations to join us now to defeat be to invite both humiliating defeat and the loss of precious American lives for no purpose whatsoever.

"ONE HAPPY FAMILY" TO BE FEATURE PICTURE ON JOHN DEERE DAY

Farmers and their families to be entertained by local

John Deere Dealer on Friday, Feb. 2

A full length feature picture, "One Happy Family," starring Don DeFore and Marjorie Reynolds, will highlight the parade of entertainment to be staged for farmers and their families who attend the annual John Deere Day show as guests of Bettenhausen & Moss on Friday, February 2, Saenger Ballroom.

"One Happy Family" tells the story of the Lynns, who compose a typical, happy, small-town household until they are awarded the title of "Family of the Year" in a contest conducted by a national magazine. The new title and the $10,000 in prize money they win contribute to toss all the Lynns into a whirlpool of comedy and excitement, and Mr. DeFore and Miss Reynolds, as representatives of the magazine, go along for the swim. As entertainment, the picture rates a blue ribbon and will provide the guests with a rollicking time.

Five other new pictures are included in the fast-moving program, according to Mr. Bettenhausen and

Mr. Moss. One of the films, "His Father's Choice," features the likable Tom Gordon, head of the memorable Gordon clan who taught valuable lessons trimmed with humor in previous John Deere pictures. Another of the films, "Oddities in Farming," offers something new and different in its presentation of unusual machines performing unusual farming operations. "What's New for 1951," will acquaint those in attendance with new John Deere implements, and is sure to prove of interest to every farmer and his family. "Mike on the Move" and "The All-American Team," the two movies that complete the program, deal with subjects close to the heart of every farmer.

Admission will be by ticket and farmers who have not yet received theirs may obtain them by calling in person at the Bettenhausen and Moss store at Tinley Park. Farmers are urged by Mr. Bettenhausen and Mr. Moss to get their tickets early. The show starts at 7:45.

the greatest fight ever staged in Congress to liberalize the House Rules. At that time the Speaker was an absolute czar, appointing all Committee members, acting as Chairman of the Rules Committee himself, with absolute power in his own hands to decide what legislation might be brought before the House.

As a result of the efforts of Norris the House Rules were liberalized, the Speaker was shorn of his power to appoint Committee members, forbidden to act upon any Committee himself, and a twelve-man Rules Committee was given the powers of a traffic cop over the movement of legislation to the House floor. This changed a "one-man rule" into a "twelve-man rule". To make sure that the Rules Committee could never thwart the will of a majority of the Members of the House, Norris had two rules adopted which insured that whenever a majority of the House wanted to act upon any particular bill the Rules Committee could not prevent such action. The following were the two methods for short-circuiting the Rules Committee.

1. By a discharge petition signed by 218 members, discharging the Rules Committee from further consideration of a bill. This brings the bill up in the House for immediate consideration.

2. By "Calendar Wednesday Rule." Under this rule every other Wednesday is set aside so that the Chairman of any Legislative Committee can call up any bill for immediate action in the House that has been approved by this Committee but has been blocked from coming before the House by the Rules Committee.

When the 81st Congress changed the House Rules to take away from the twelve-man Rules Committee its function to act as "stop and go sign" for legislation, what they actually did was to give back to the Speaker that power. Instead of a twelve-man jury to try the case, we had a one-man judge (the Speaker) with power to act. Under that power the Speaker repeatedly refused to recognize members who wanted to bring up the FEPC bill. That bill was brought up and passed by the House through the "Calendar Wednesday Rule."

During the 80th Congress the Rules Committee held up or blocked bills that had been approved by Legislative Committees calling for appropriations totaling over $2 billion more than the estimated receipts of the Treasury. The only time in the past 25 years that we have had a balanced budget was when the 80th Congress held the federal purse strings.

The 82nd Congress has gone back to the Norris Plan adopted in 1910 a twelve-man jury control over the flow of legislation, with two safeguards, instead of one-man control. The House action ends any chance for Taft-Hartley law repeal socialized medicine, or any other socialistic scheme during the next two years.

To Keep the Record Straight. A year ago Admiral Denfeld was discharged because he demanded a strong Navy, and work was suspended on the construction of the giant Navy aircraft carrier, "The United States," for which funds had been appropriated by the Congress. Now the Navy is being doubled in size, and the construction of a new Navy aircraft carrier almost as large as "The United States" but to cost $51 million more has been ordered. For three years the Administration refused to increase the size of the Air Force from 48 to 70 groups, as authorized by Congress. Now it is planning a 100 group Air Force. Congress authorized an armed force of 2 million men three years ago, but, until Korea, total military personnel was held to the 1.4 million level by the Administration.

The entire lower gymnasium floor of Bevier hall, the women's building, will be given over to these 10 large exhibits which are complete with flashing lights, turning wheels and good farm layouts. In addition, other exhibits are being prepared by the departments of forestry, horticulture, dairy science, food technology and home economics.

General Tree Care Vital in Control Of Dutch Elm Ill

Beginning right now, every home owner who has elms on his property can help wage an all-out war against the insidious elm bark beetle, carrier of Dutch elm disease.

Most important thing he can do is take steps to maintain his elms in good growing vigor. This, along with the removal and destruction of dead and broken branches and fallen timber, eliminates the insects' breeding places. Weakened elms, as well as elmwood which has not dried out, are most attractive for beetle egg laying. Researchers find that in a locality, the more insects there are, the more disease there will be.

Where elms were declining last year it is best to have a qualified tree man look them over, advises F. R. Lancaster, Davey Tree Expert Company pathologist. Even in winter, a tree surgeon can tell when a tree is making poor growth and can do something about it. He can tell how much or how little growth has been made by the appearance of the twigs and the bark. At the same time, he can find clues of insect attack from entrance holes and check for strangling roots, poor fertility, soil packing, wet wood disease and other tree ailments.

The Davey authority advocates a five-point program to curb spread of Dutch elm disease: (1) Good tree care practices to keep elms vigorous; best insurance against beetle breeding. (2) Pruning all dead, broken and weakened branches. (3) Fertilizing with Davey Tree Food. This can be done any time the ground is not frozen. (4) Burning of all large fallen elm branches. (5) Spraying with DDT before leaves unfold and again later in the summer. The beetles which like to lay eggs in weakened trees are thwarted in carrying the disease to healthy trees if thorough spraying has been done. Beetle contact with DDT is fatal.

Winter Show at Farm, Home Week

Everyone who attends the 50th annual Farm and Home Week program on the University of Illinois campus February 5 thru 9 will have a chance to see the Illinois Legume-Grass winter show.

This colorful and informative exhibit will form the central theme of the Farm and Home week show, according to L. B. Culver, chairman of the exhibit planning committee.

The entire lower gymnasium floor of Bevier hall, the women's building, will be given over to these 10 large exhibits which are complete with flashing lights, turning wheels and good farm layouts.

In addition, other exhibits are being prepared by the departments of forestry, horticulture, dairy science, food technology and home economics.

All of the winter show exhibits deal with the production and utilization of greater acreages of legumes and grasses on Illinois farms. The exhibits are being shown in 32 counties this winter. Each of the large displays is 15 feet wide and seven feet high.

The Farm and Home week show will be open from 12 o'clock noon until 6 p.m. on Monday, February 5, and from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, February 6 and 7.

Special demonstrations are being planned to accompany some of the exhibits. These demonstrations will follow the general sessions of each of the first three days, starting about 4 p.m. In addition, representatives of each department will be on hand at the exhibits to explain them and answer any questions.

Kansas Beef Cow Herds Show Profits

As feeder cattle costs have gone up, more and more beef cow herds have been established in Illinois.

H. G. Russell, extension livestock specialist at the Illinois College of Agriculture, says that success with beef herds will depend to a large extent on their management.

Feeder calf production records obtained by the Extension Service at Kansas State college shows some of the important features of beef herd management. Russell points out. Some of these features were:

1. Cows were wintered on low-cost rations. Kansas feeders used silage, hay, bundle feed and some cottonseed meal. The herd with the greatest return per calf wintered cows at a cost of $16.75 a head.

2. A good calf crop was important. The average calf crop for the 16 herds recorded was 92.6 percent, with only six herds below the average.

3. Calves were born early. Average calving date fell between March 1 and March 31 for 11 of the 16 herds.

4. The calves were heavy at weaning time. Average weaning or sale weight was 469 pounds.

5. Quality of the calves was very important. Sale prices varied from $25.50 to $32.50 per hundredweight. Undoubtedly some sales were made more advantageously than others, but in general the differences showed up for calves sold at about the same time.

6. Attention to all these factors enabled the leader to net $128.32 per calf above cost of production. Four of the 16 producers netted $100 or more per calf. Average net return per calf was $87.14.

Rot Out Old Tree Stumps

Do you have an old tree stump that is too close to your house to blast or pull out?

Easiest way to get rid of it is by rotting it out, says C. S. Walters, forest products utilization specialist at the University College of Agriculture.

Cut the stump at or below ground level. Then cover it with soil and keep the soil moist. This moisture will help the fungi rot the wood. You can even plant grass over the stump while the rotting is taking place, if you will keep the soil damp during the dry seasons.

In a couple of years anything left of the stump will be easy to grub out, Walters says. Then you can level the lawn with fresh dirt and plant grass again.

A faster way of removing the old stump is to burn it out, if that is practical in your situation. Make a stove out of a metal can, such as a five-gallon paint can. Remove the bottom and top of the can. Cut four or five one-inch holes in the sides near the bottom. Place the stove on top of the stump, and build a fire in it out of coke, charcoal or coal. Keep moving the stove around to burn various parts of the stump.

If the stump is less than two feet in diameter, a practical method is to grub it out. Dig a trench two feet deep around the stump and cut exposed roots as close to the tree as possible. Then roll or slide the stump out of the hole. You will need a spade, axe and pick mattock for this work.

Walters says none of the chemical stump removers so far tested have shown satisfactory results.

Youth Week Theme, Dates Announced

"Christ Calls—Serve in Faith" is the theme chosen for the eighth annual observance of Youth Week-Christian Endeavor week, to be held January 28 to February 4, according to Rev. A. Wilson Cheek, executive secretary of the United Christian Youth movement, which sponsors the observance.

The UCYM is administered thru the department of young people's work of the national council of the Churches of Christ in the USA.

Major features suggested for local church and community observances include: Denominational Day on Sunday, January 28, with local parish youth-led services; Interdenominational Day on Sunday, February 4, with services of ecumenical worship; participation in the Pasadena College Scholarship Awards competition; evangelism activities; a leadership education school; family night at home or at church; vocational clinics and a dramatic educational program called "The World Bids for Youth."

"Youth Week is a period of purposeful and objective planning and action carried out through a forceful demonstration of Christianity, a reemphasis of Christian unity, an evangelistic outreach, and presentation of the spirit of Christian young people," Mr. Cheek said.

In 1944 the first united observance of Youth Week-Christian Endeavor Week was held. Since then it has become one of the largest church events in North America. An estimated 5,000,000 youths of 40 Protestant denominations, 35 state councils of churches and youth councils, the International Society of Christian Endeavor, and such youth-serving groups as the YMCA, YWCA, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, participated in Youth Week.

Further information may be secured from the UCYM at 206 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago 4, Ill.

The Good Must Fight

Lesson for January 21, 1951

YOU WOULD think that if ever there arrived on this planet a really good person, he would be popular with everybody. People are tired of meanness, they are sick of being lied to and cheated. They are tired of the sins of others, even tired of their own. So if a really good person should appear, one in whom was no shadow, completely transparent to the Eternal Light, wouldn't everyone flock to him, wouldn't he have the human race in the palm of his hand, as it were, in a short time?

Dr. Foreman

Angels War

THE ANSWER is No. It is not well to be too optimistic about human nature. As a matter of fact, some of the best persons history has known met some of the bitterest opposition. Indeed, when One came who was completely good, whose life was all light and no shadow, he was no better treated and no more warmly welcomed than less good persons have been.

Jesus Christ had his enemies, strong and well-organized. The number of those who believed in him was comparatively small; the number who did not believe or ignored him altogether, was enormous.

The history of mankind is the history of a war, the age long war between good and evil, between God and his enemies. The story of Jesus is one chapter in this history, the most important by far, but by no means the first one or the last.

Why Was Jesus Hated?

THE READER should examine the record in the Gospels and try to think for himself who opposed Jesus, and why they did so. One striking fact is that Jesus' enemies were not what we call the "lower classes," much less the "criminal classes." His enemies were rather from out of the top drawer, as we might say. They were the financial, social and religious leaders of his time. They finally got him executed as a criminal.

If there had never been any one to contradict the records of the Sanhedrin, that high court of Jerusalem, and those records had become recognized as the truth, Jesus would have gone down in history, if remembered at all, as a trouble-maker, a lawless and worthless man, whose execution was a protection to society.

Why were these leading men, Jesus' "distinguished" contemporaries, so wrong about Jesus?

"As he is, so are we..."

THE READER should think this out for himself. One reason can be mentioned here: It is very easy for wrong to be so long accepted and so strongly entrenched that it is universally taken for right. Then when the right comes along, especially when in the form of an idea suggested by some one not of the upper crust, it actually seems to be wrong. People kept long in a dark room find light painful!

Any one who tries to follow Jesus will find himself up against the same sort of opposition.

Any one who proposes to live as Jesus lived, or to change our accustomed patterns of society in the direction which Jesus pointed out, will be called (as he was) a crackpot, a dreamer, an impractical fellow who does not know enough to go in when it rains.

Our Divine Alliance

CONSIDER one example of this. A Christian who makes up his mind to dedicate his body a "living sacrifice" to God, and therefore not to handicap himself with the drug of alcohol, is certain, in many places, to be considered a sort of crank. It is not that people will laugh at him, though they will; people will be angry with him for his stand. They will do all they can to make him break his pledge.

Instead of admiring a clean and free life, many people are not content unless they can soil that cleanness and break down that freedom. So to stand for Christ in any aspect of life is not easy. But we need to remember we fight no lonely fight; our cause is not forlorn. Just as Jesus in Galilee was always on the side of those who were beaten and battered by sin and evil, but still fighting, so now the ever-living Christ is always on the side of those who in their hearts desire good and not evil, cleanness and not dirt, truth and not lies.

So much depends on them

Good telephone people are essential to your good service in normal times. They are supremely important today in meeting the growing telephone needs of national defense.

$15,500,000 IN NEW PAYROLL COSTS TO ASSURE GOOD SERVICE

Good telephone service is the foundation of military and civilian defense communications... a keystone of speeded-up war production. Good telephone employees form the base on which it is built.

And to assure continued good service during the critical days ahead, this company has recently granted additional wage increases to the 39,000 employees serving you at Illinois Bell. These will add $15,500,000 to Illinois Bell's payroll costs over the various wage contract periods.

These raises for employees have sharply increased the telephone company's rising expenses. But they were necessary to bring telephone wages in line with higher wages recently granted by other industries in the territory we serve. Of equal importance, they assure you of high caliber telephone people to handle your communications problem, and the nation's communications during the challenging days that lie before us.

Value Your Health More Than Riches

Some folks think that fine clothes and fine, big houses are the most important things in life, but these things really don't mean too much if a person doesn't feel well enough to enjoy them. Most folks don't realize this, but Mrs. Lucy Braswell, of Route 2, Stone Mountain, Ga., realizes it very well. Mrs. Braswell takes HADACOL, and by taking HADACOL she found she is helping her system overcome deficiencies of Vitamins B, B, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Braswell's own statement: "I have been sick for some time with stomach disturbances. I began taking HADACOL and I have been taking it about six weeks. I am so much better and much stronger. I will continue to take HADACOL. It sure has helped me. I tell my friends about HADACOL. I can't praise HADACOL too much. I am 50 years old."
